Bureau of Feed and Seed 2002 Feed Program Review

The Missouri Department of Agriculture, Plant Industries Division, Bureau of Feed and Seed is pleased to supply this 2002 Summary Report of Commercial Feed Inspections. It is hoped this Summary will be used as a reference and will be of help in making improvements to your products.

Food safety issues played a very important role in the Feed Program in 2002. The Missouri Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Feed and Seed in cooperation with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration continued to provide inspection and surveillance for the BSE – Bovine Spongiform Encephalopathy (Mad Cow Disease) Prevention Program. A concentrated effort was made in 2002 to ensure all facilities in Missouri that manufacture and/or distribute feed products containing prohibited mammalian protein with labels having the warning statement “Do Not Feed to Cattle or Other Ruminants” were in compliance with Federal Rule 21 CFR Part 589.

The Bureau of Feed and Seed entered into a partnership agreement with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration to inspect and collect wheat samples from Missouri’s 2002 production for aflatoxin/vomitoxin testing to help ensure the food safety of the nation’s food supply. No aflatoxin or vomitoxin was found in Missouri wheat.

The Bureau of Feed and Seed conducted an annual survey of corn and milo produced in the state. Corn was tested for crude protein and aflatoxin and milo for crude protein. If a sample of corn was found to contain aflatoxin, the amount and FDA guidelines for safe use or disposal were sent immediately to the facility where the sample of corn was obtained. The 2002 corn and milo results are reported in this summary.

The Bureau of Feed and Seed in cooperation with the Plant Pest Program and the U.S.D.A. obtained samples from Missouri’s 2002 wheat production that were tested for karnal bunt wheat disease. No evidence of karnal bunt was found in Missouri.

In June 2002 the Bureau of Feed and Seed started GMP (Good Manufacturing Practices) inspections of non-federally licensed medicated feed manufacturing establishments. The program is intended to ensure legally approved levels and combinations of drugs and antibiotics are used in feed products and that the overall upkeep, housekeeping, records, labeling, and cleanliness of the facility are in order.

The Bureau of Feed and Seed maintained a 100% follow-up rate by immediately responding to customer complaints. When problems were suspected that were beyond the scope of the feed program or the capabilities of the Missouri Feed Control Laboratory, other agencies were contacted or the samples were sent to other laboratories for testing.

The Bureau of Feed and Seed took regulatory action against a number of unapproved feed ingredients used in products in the state. These actions are reported in Violations Other Than Failure to Meet Label Claims.

Food safety is a primary concern of the Bureau of Feed and Seed.

The Missouri Feed Control Laboratory analyzed 5529 official samples in 2002. An official sample is a product or feed ingredient on which a guaranteed analysis is required. Should a product fail to meet a guarantee or something of a detrimental nature is found a Withdrawal from Distribution Order is issued immediately. There were 723 Withdrawals issued in 2002 which results in a statewide compliance rate of 87.0%. Steps are being taken to improve this compliance in 2003.

The Missouri Feed Control Laboratory analyzed 165 customer-formula samples in 2002. No regulatory action is taken against these feeds, however, the customer requesting the feed and the manufacturer of the feed received a report of the analysis and the customer a questionnaire to ensure the customer received the quality of feed requested.

A total of 460 service and complaint samples were analyzed in 2002. The total number of samples analyzed by the Missouri Feed Control Laboratory was 6163, resulting in 58,491 individual assays in 2002.

The Excellence in Compliance Award Program was continued in 2002. A total of 111 guarantor companies qualified for this award.

The Feed Program underwent a Performance Audit in 2002. This resulted in some changes in the administration of the Feed Program.

1. Immediate issue of Withdrawal from Distribution Orders – As soon as the results of an analysis of a feed sample are known and if it is found in violation a Withdrawal Order is either faxed or the possessor is called with the notification of the product being withdrawn from distribution. This reduces the time from when a sample is obtained until regulatory action is taken. It is against the Missouri Commercial Feed Law to sell or distribute a product under “Withdrawal from Distribution Order”.
2. Follow-up on Withdrawal from Distribution Orders – Under the Missouri Commercial Feed Law, the possessor or guarantor is given thirty (30) days to obtain a release from a Withdrawal from Distribution Order. If action has not been taken within 30 days, the inspector is instructed to follow-up and report the disposition of the product and obtain a release if possible. The inspectors are to follow-up immediately on 30 – 40% of the withdrawals in their areas to ensure if proper corrective action is taken before release is granted.
3. Major feed manufacturing plants in the state will be inspected and sampled at least two times each year.

4. Increased scrutiny of low compliance products and companies – Faster notification will be given as to problems with assistance and suggestions being given if requested as to correcting the problem. Regulatory action will be taken if corrections are not made in a timely manner.

The year 2002 saw continued emphasis on customer protection and increased emphasis on food safety as well as changes in the administration of the Feed Program.

U.S. Food and Drug Administration Guidelines for Aflatoxin Levels

Corn containing less than 20 parts per billion aflatoxin is considered safe by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration for use in all animal feed. Corn exceeding 20 ppb can be fed only for specific age, weight, and production stage. Corn exceeding 300 ppb must be blended with corn containing little or no aflatoxin before feeding is allowed to specific age, weight, and production stage of livestock. Before corn can be blended for out-of-state shipment, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration must be notified and permission obtained from the Missouri Department of Agriculture for this to be allowed.

U.S. Food and Drug Administration guidelines are as follows:

Aflatoxin Level (in parts per billion)	Commodities & Species
20 ppb	For corn, peanut products, cottonseed meal and other animal feeds and feed ingredients intended for dairy animals; for animal species or uses not specified below, or when the intended use is not known.
20 ppb	For corn, peanut products and other animal feeds and feed ingredients, but excluding cottonseed meal, intended for immature animals.
100 ppb	For corn and peanut products intended for breeding beef cattle, breeding swine or mature poultry (e.g. laying hens).
200 ppb	For corn and peanut products intended for finishing swine (100 pounds or more).
300 ppb	For cottonseed meal intended for beef cattle, swine or poultry (regardless of age or breeding status).
300 ppb	For corn and peanut products intended for finishing beef cattle (i.e., feedlot cattle).

2002 Corn and Milo Survey

The Missouri Department of Agriculture once again is happy to report on our annual monitoring of aflatoxin in feed ingredients and finished feeds. This survey has been reported each year since 1993. We also analyze all customer complaint samples for aflatoxin when symptoms suggest adulteration. Analytical information is also conducted to determine the average crude protein in corn and milo. This year (2002), the average crude protein for corn is higher at 8.41% and milo was higher at 9.28% than year 2001, each being adjusted to a 13.5% moisture level.

Samples of corn are drawn from counties having an expected production of greater than one million bushels, with one sample added for each additional one million bushels produced per one sample. Aflatoxin was found in 42 samples tested. The values reported ranged from 10 ppb to 300 ppb. Only one sample exceeded 300 ppb. Anytime aflatoxin was found, the facility where the sample was taken was notified immediately and FDA guidelines for safe use or proper disposal was supplied.

Forty (40) milo samples were collected from 19 counties. Aflatoxin in milo has not been a concern in the past, so analysis for aflatoxin was not done.

The Missouri Department of Agriculture is committed to food safety and quality for the protection of our Missouri consumers. Our mission is to continue to serve, promote, and protect the agriculture producers, processors and consumers of Missouri food, fuel, and fiber products.

Label Review Program

The Missouri Commercial Feed Law Rules were updated in 1998, requiring product to be guaranteed for specific animal species and/or for ingredients that may be contained that contribute to a specific nutritional requirement for an animal.

The required expanded and updated labeling was completed on existing products in 2001.

Label review is continuing to ensure products inspected are meeting the required labeling requirements. If a deficient level is found, the guarantor is given written notification of the needed labeling corrections and is requested to forward a copy of the corrected label to the Bureau of Feed and Seed office.

1997 was the last year before the expanded labeling requirements went into effect in 1998. Compliance for labeled guaranteed analysis has improved even with the increased number of required guarantees.

Year	Compliance Percentage
1997	83.83%
1998	85.06%
1999	84.83%
2000	87.27%
2001	88.20%
2002	87.00%

Bovine Spongiform Encephalopathy BSE (Mad Cow Disease) Prevention Program 2002

There has never been a reported case of BSE or new variant Creutzfeldt-Jakob Disease (vCJD) diagnosed in the United States as of this writing.

Bovine Spongiform Encephalopathy also known as BSE or Mad Cow Disease is a fatal disease that causes the slow degeneration of the central nervous system of adult cattle. Behavioral systems include stumbling, comas, lack of coordination, and eventually death. It was first diagnosed in the United Kingdom (U.K.) and has spread throughout Europe. There have been two reported cases in Japan. There is strong scientific evidence that BSE is the causative agent for the human form of a similar disease called variant Creutzfeldt-Jakob Disease (vCJD), which has been associated with the consumption of food from BSE-infected animals.

Intensive tests of cattle brain tissue by the Center for Disease Control and Prevention for BSE have found no signs of this disease in the U.S. This testing will increase in 2003.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has placed an import ban on animal protein products from infected countries. The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has banned the import of live animals from infected countries. State animal health agencies work with the USDA in obtaining brain tissue for testing. Feed regulatory agencies are responsible in cooperation with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration for the inspection of the federal rules related to BSE prevention.

The Missouri Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, continued to inspect and file BSE inspection reports to FDA throughout 2002. As part of the food safety program, Bureau of Feed and Seed inspectors inspected all facilities in Missouri that were manufacturing, labeling, or retailing products containing prohibited mammalian protein in 2002.

The current rules that pertain to BSE are currently under review. A hearing was held in Kansas City, Mo. in late October 2001. The comments presented, as well as any new science, are now being considered in the possible revisions. Possible revisions to the BSE Federal Rule 21 CFR Part 589 are still under review.

A three-year study prepared and released by Harvard University in cooperation with USDA showed a very low risk of BSE in the U.S. The study did not rule out additional safeguards to protect our beef supply, but indicated the early actions that were taken and are in effect did a good job in reducing the risk of BSE.

The inventory of all cattle and calves on Missouri farms on January 1, 2001 totaled 4.25 million head. This represents 68,000 operations. The total value was estimated at $2.89 billion. If BSE was found in Missouri cattle, economic devastation would result.

Complete compliance with the rules related to BSE will help ensure this disease does not occur in Missouri.

*A feed inspection is defined as one inspection for each facility visited where a "notice of inspection" is written indicating the type of regulatory action taken.

Excellence in Compliance Award

The Bureau of Feed and Seed established a goal to achieve an 88% feed labeling compliance rate by 2003, as a part of the customer protection focus in the Department of Agriculture Strategic Plan.

The Excellence in Compliance Award is designed to recognize those companies who have high standards and have met or exceeded a 90% rounded average compliance in 2002.

The Missouri Department of Agriculture will issue a certificate to honor those companies that have met or exceeded the following criteria:

- At least five random official regulatory samples must have been taken by a Missouri Feed and Seed inspector and been analyzed by the State Feed Control Laboratory in 2002.
- A 90% passing compliance rate on five or more samples must have been achieved for the 2002 calendar year.
- The company labeling the feed or feed ingredient must be in good standing with the Bureau of Feed and Seed having a Missouri Commercial Feed License and having all quarterly inspection fees or yearly product listing (pet and specialty pet foods) paid as required.

A total of 111 feed labelers have achieved a 90% or better compliance rate in Missouri in 2002.

Fifty-three companies maintain an address in the state of Missouri and fifty-eight are located outside of Missouri with a number of companies with out-of-state addresses having manufacturing facilities in Missouri.

Feed Company Label Guarantee Compliance

SECTION 1

Section One is intended to show the reliability of labelers in meeting their claims for feed quality. Those inspections were planned on a random basis. The greater the number of samples taken per labeler, the greater the probability that the consistency in meeting claims shown will represent how well the labeler met guarantees.
